At the Arsenal Quay, which is near the juncture of the Grabowski and Grodzki Canals, three merchant vessels of similar class were being fitted out. The vessels had steel hatches, and deadweight was estimated between 2,000 and 2,500 tons. One of the vessels was almost completed. It had the hammer and sickle device on the funnel, but no colored ring. The masts on the two other vessels had been raised, but no cargo booms were as yet installed.
